2N® VoiceBlue Next gains Cisco certification

The 2N® VoiceBlue Next – new generation VoIP gateway was successfully certified in April 2011 for compatibility with the products of Cisco Systems, Inc. This certificate has great value for the company. It required meeting the highest quality criteria. This certificate is further evidence for our customers that the products and services of 2N TELEKOMUNIKACE are of the highest quality!

2N® Helios, 2N® Helios IP – New printing of buttons

Dial
Button

2N Helios and 2N Helios IP have new signs on the buttons with a bell symbol for all modifications of Helioses and Extending modules. Helios IP with a display remains the same as before. Helioses with the new signs have a sticker on the box. If you need more information about this, please contact us.

2N® EasyRoute gains FCC certification

We are happy to announce that in April 2011 2N® EasyRoute received FCC certification! This certification is stricter on testing conditions in the laboratory, mainly the radiation part (UMTS module, WiFi card). 2N® EasyRoute passed this certification without any problems which only confirms the quality of our equipment. This certification opens up a new market in North America for us. We firmly believe that there will be great interest in this country for this device, mainly for the 2N® EasyRoute version with VoIP calls and sending/receiving faxes via T.38 protocol.
